

The Arkansas Energy Education Foundation promotes the state’s energy resources. Thanks to generous supporters, foundation programs have reached thousands of Arkansans, hundreds of educators and thousands of school children through the Arkansas Energy Rocks! program and arkansasenergyrocks.com website.

Led by Director Paige Miller and educator Mallory Noggle, Arkansas Energy Rocks! continues to expand its reach through school visits, STEM fairs and new initiatives—including virtual classroom visits with industry professionals and educator-focused workshops—to bring real-world energy education to Arkansas classrooms!

Educators visit a natural gas well drilling site during the 2025 Teacher Energy Education Workshop.
